Re: Covet & Mane, LLC. v. Invisible Bead Extensions, LLC, Case No. 21-cv-7740-(JPC) (RWL)

Dear Judge Lehrburger:

I represent Plaintiff Covet & Mane, LLC (“Plaintiff”) in the above-referenced matter. We write to request an emergency forty-eight (48) hour extension of time to file Plaintiff’s Motion For Leave to Amend papers. The reason for the request is that my ten year old daughter fractured her arm at school on Friday and had to go to Urgent Care to get a cast. Over the weekend, I was able to get her an appointment with an orthopedist in Westchester tomorrow morning. Additionally, my co-counsel, Maurice Ross, Esq., is out of town preparing witnesses for a trial, and our associate is out of the office tomorrow for Rosh Hoshana.

Given these extenuating circumstances, I emailed Defendant Invisible Bead Extensions, LLC (“Defendant”) this evening to request the extension, but I received an automatic email response from Joel MacMull, Esq. that he is out of the office until Tuesday, also for Rosh Hoshana. I am not certain when I will hear back from counsel in Utah, so I thought it would be most prudent to write the Court tonight. I have advised Defendant’s counsel that we would give them an extension of two days to submit their opposition (from Wednesday, October 12, 2022 until Friday, October 14, 2022), and that Plaintiff will file its reply on the current due date of Thursday, October 20, 2022.

Extension granted.
